BERT FORD, HONOR GUEST AT BANQUET, TELLS HIS WAR EXPERIENCES

NOTED WAR WRITER REATES HEROISM OF U. S. BOYS

The American is going to take little of its spare time to tell the story of the heroism of the boys who gave at the Hotel Lenox last night, Bert Ford, war correspondent.

Bert Ford before the war was a staff reporter of the American. When the great war opened up, he went to France to report on the activities of the American Expeditionary Force. He was in France for three years, and during that time he wrote some of the most famous war stories of the day. He was in the front lines, and he saw some of the most terrible fighting of the war.

Mr. Ford's association in the American always knew that he was a large part of the public mind. He was a man of the people, and he was a man of the war. He was a man of the front lines, and he was a man of the back lines. He was a man of the front lines, and he was a man of the back lines. He was a man of the front lines, and he was a man of the back lines.

ENTERTAINED BERT FORD AND HIS ASSOCIATES

Sonia Neroff of Luba Neroff & Company, well known in vauville, who appeared at the banquet at the Hotel Lenox given to Bert Ford by his fellow workers on the American.

Mr. Ford described the perils of a war correspondent. He told of the time he was in the front lines, and he saw some of the most terrible fighting of the war. He told of the time he was in the back lines, and he saw some of the most terrible fighting of the war. He told of the time he was in the front lines, and he saw some of the most terrible fighting of the war.

After the armistice Ford and other correspondents went ahead of the army. They arrived at Amiens one night and sat down to a fine spread. That was prepared for General Pershing. He said the general who was the preparing. But if it was breaking news any of it.

Here's A Gentle Laxative For Elderly People

A daily free movement of the bowels becomes a serious problem as you step from middle-life into old age, and much dependence can no longer be placed on nature herself. The bowels find artificial aid necessary.

The stronger the physique, as old people soon learn, the greater the contraction of the bowels thereafter, and so the wise person avoids salt waters, pills and other harsh purgatives. Many have learned to place absolute reliance on the gentle but positive action of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin acid by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It produces an agreeable movement as nearly natural and free as any pharmaceutical skill can make it. Thousands use it regularly, in the small dose prescribed, and keep themselves in fine health and good cheer, and entirely free from constipation.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

CHICAGO HERALD AND EXAMINER

☆☆☆ A CHICAGO NEWSPAPER AND FOR CHICAGO PEOPLE ☆☆☆

The Fastest Growing Newspaper in the Richest Section of the United States

Our statement to the Government for the six months ending April 1st shows that the Chicago Herald and Examiner, Daily and Sunday,

Gained 90,371 New Subscribers

The combined gain of all other Chicago newspapers, morning, evening and Sunday, as shown by their Government statements, was 94,171

CHICAGO'S youngest newspaper has filed its second sworn government circulation statement for the six months' period, ending March 31. It shows a GAIN IN NEW SUBSCRIBERS ALMOST EQUAL TO THE GAIN OF ALL OTHER CHICAGO NEWSPAPERS COMBINED.

According to the government statements published by each newspaper:—

The Chicago Evening Post Gained	2,666
The Chicago Evening American Gained	5,199
The Chicago Daily News Gained	13,379
The Chicago Daily Tribune Gained	13,208
The Chicago Sunday Tribune Gained	55,580
The Chicago Evening Journal Gained	4,139
A Combined Total of	94,171

In This Same Six Months' Period:—

The Daily Herald and Examiner (6 Days a Week Only)
Gained	27,517
The Sunday Herald and Examiner Gained	62,854
A Total of	90,371

The sworn 6-day average circulation of the Chicago Herald and Examiner for the past six months is 289,880. The average circulation of the Sunday Chicago Herald and Examiner for the past six months is 597,789.

An analysis of these figures will show that the GAIN of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, Daily and Sunday, is almost equal to the total circulation of one Chicago evening newspaper and double the total circulation of another Chicago evening newspaper.

We feel we have every reason to be proud of this extraordinary showing. We feel our efforts to serve our readers and to serve the City of Chicago have been repaid amply.

The advertisers whose patronage made this gain possible tell us that their judgement of the value of the Herald and Examiner has been confirmed by TRACED RESULTS

Our Merchandise Research Bureau will co-operate with all advertisers most effectively and economically to cover the Chicago market.

Daily Above 290,000—NET PAID FOR MARCH—Sunday Above 620,000

SUCCESSFUL advertisers know the tremendous value of GROWING circulation. That this steady and healthy growth in circulation is appreciated by the men who buy advertising space is proven by this record:—

During the first three months of 1919 the Chicago Herald and Examiner gained 2,028.55 columns of display advertising

Petition to the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy to send Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Home with Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition, get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer st., Boston, Mass. To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War; To the Honorable Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy.

The undersigned respectfully urge you to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers, sailors and marines who have accomplished so brilliantly every object America had in the war.

We urge also that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

(Signed)

Place a sheet of paper on this for additional signatures.

The Soldiers Service Bureau of the Boston American is organized for the purpose of doing things for the soldiers and sailors of this war. It is for officers and men alike. Answers to questions will be published in the American daily, and many personal services will be done for the soldiers and sailors as stated below.

Address all communications to Soldiers Service Bureau, Boston American, No. 80 Summer Street, Boston.

Persons finding the discharge papers of soldiers or sailors should make every effort to return them to their owners. A discharge paper cannot be duplicated. The War Department can only issue a certificate that the discharge has been given. Presumably the owner loses his original, and would greatly appreciate its return.

BOXING NEWS AND GOSSIP

Charles Parker, South End lightweight, has been called to stand his boxing with Pioneer Boyle of Lowell, which was scheduled for Tuesday night, at the New York Athletic Club. Parker is a result of an injury sustained in a fight with Joe Egan, Dorchester, middleweight, will furnish the attraction at the Triple-A.

Albano is in action for his twelfth-round victory with Belling Nolan of New York, at the Commercial A. C., tomorrow night. Nolan is an aggressive, two-handed fighter like the famous hammer and is of the opinion he will land the Brooklyn boxing star a drubbing.

Shaver O'Brien announces he has severed relations with George Freeman and is now managed by Bobbly Ware of South Boston. Robert has been O'Brien's first second since he started boxing. He knows the fight game and should be able to get plenty of work for Shaver.

While Ritchie says he will hand Benny Leonard a setback when they clash at Newark, N. J., next Monday night, the former boss of the lightweight surprised the wife men when he pulled a come-back. He now believes he is as good as ever.

Some unwise person was heard to remark that White and Fitzsimmons would go for it in another bout here. Such a contest would be about as popular with the fans as a parade of a company of goose-stepping German troops down Tremont street.

BRITT-HARTLEY BOUT TOPSY Y.D. BOXING BILL

Frankie (Young) Britt, classy New Bedford lightweight, and Pete Hartley of New York, will try and make the members of the Yankee Division believe they are back at Chateaufort when they clash in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Grand Opera House tonight.

The show has been arranged for the members of the 26th Division by the Mayor's Entertainment Committee. The bout has been reserved for Major-General Hale, commander of the division, and over 100 other officers.

These final battles in the Camp Devens championships will also be staged. They follow: Jack Pers vs. Louis Newman, 115 pounds; Johnny Morris vs. Eugene J. Lohle, 145 pounds; and, Paddy Flynn and Blanche heavy-weight clash, 175 lb. A betting war and the quietest 26th boys should see plenty of hard scrapping and clever boxing.

Hearst's Magazine for May

Arthur Conan Doyle

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE speaks with authority. Scholar, physician, writer—he has since the War been giving his whole life to this one subject—

—are the Dead really dead?

You may not agree with Conan Doyle's conclusions but you cannot ignore them. With thousands of our soldier sons missing forever, the eternal question of life-and-death is poignantly important.

"Spiritualism, so long the subject of sneers and ridicule, is absolutely the most important development in the whole history of the human race."

HARE, the inventor, Crookes, the chemist, Wallace, the naturalist, Varley the physicist, Flammarion, the astronomer—all clear thinking men of science—became firm converts of their own investigations. Now comes Conan Doyle! His report on Spiritualism—simply written and startlingly interesting—is probably the most significant series of articles now being published.

IF you are not interested in the opinions of the world's great thinkers, you won't want Hearst's this month or any other. But if you want the thoughts of real leaders don't fail to read Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Vital Message" in the May number of

Lesson Taught in Settlement of Telephone Strike

The telephone strike is over. The operatives are back at work. Service is resumed. An agreement was reached by conference. The strike was of brief duration. The patrons suffered the minimum of discomfort and inconvenience.

Public opinion forces public control to an early adjustment. A strike against public control is a strike against the public.

What a contrast with the mill strike at Lawrence! There, a conflict involving 32,000 operatives, millions of dollars worth of property and the safety, prosperity and comfort of thousands and thousands of people not directly connected with either the strikers or mill owners has gone along for three months and the end is not in sight.

The strikers offer to accept arbitration. And the private owners seek refuge behind that moth-eaten excuse, "There is nothing to arbitrate."

The welfare of the public demands settlement. THE PRIVATE OWNERS IGNORE IT.

The State Board vested with the duty of representing the public in the settlement of industrial disputes offers its services in the matter. THE PRIVATE OWNERS IGNORE IT.

The Governor of the Commonwealth himself, declares in an official statement that the private mill owners should abandon their dog-in-the-manger policy and present their case to a proper tribunal for arbitration. AND THE MILL OWNERS DEFY HIM BY REPEATING AGAIN THE OLD EXCUSE, "THERE IS NOTHING TO ARBITRATE."

The sentiment of society and the authority of the State should be sufficient to compel one unruly side with a "public be damned" policy to effect a settlement of a situation that has brought so much hardship, not alone to participants, but to the public, which in this case is the innocent bystander, invariably damaged and injured.

Finish Your Part of the War as Your Sons Did Theirs

The first few days' results in the Victory Loan drive prove that Americans are both patriotic and intelligent.

Of their patriotism there had been no doubt. They proved it beyond question throughout the war.

But would their intelligence be quick enough to cause them to discern promptly the extraordinary attractiveness of the Victory Notes, or short-term Liberty Bonds, considered strictly as an investment?

In view of the previous great strain upon their earnings and savings, would they absorb this new issue readily or would it have to be taken and held mainly by banks, thus discommoding commercial credits?

The first days' results encourage the belief that the Victory Loan will, as it should, be a distinctively popular loan, bought in large volume by everyday Americans who are just ordinarily well-to-do.

It should be this from the patriotic standpoint, because it is designed to wind up the campaigning for war loans, and we ought to do that part—OUR part—as cheerfully and as speedily as our gallant soldier lads did theirs.

Had not our fighting sons done their work so quickly and so well, many more loans might have been necessary. When we measure the facts alongside the very imminent possibilities, we realize that we are indeed escaping rather cheaply, and gratitude alone requires us to put this loan through with a rush.

But the loan ought to be popular for its own sake, because: (1) It offers the best security that ever backed a bond—the pledge of the entire resources of the wealthiest country in the world emerging victorious from a war which has immensely enhanced its prestige and its prospects.

(2) It carries a higher rate of interest for a bond selling at par than has been paid on a United States security issued since the Civil War.

(3) That rate, 4½ per cent., exceeds the highest rate paid by banks on saving deposits and, with the short maturity, assures that this bond will not fall below par.

The Victory 4½, is exempt from all State and local taxes, except estate and inheritance taxes, and from normal Federal income taxes; but it comes under the higher levels of the Federal income tax, hence cannot be used as a refuge for rich tax dodgers.

It is purchasable on easy instalments and most banks will loan on it to 80 per cent. of its face value at a rate of interest not higher than the bond pays.

For the man of moderate means this bond is, therefore, an ideal investment.

How Parents Spoil Their Children

Thousands of Ways—We Mention One
Copyright, 1919, Star Company

This editorial is written in response to the request of a reader. He asks us to point out the harm that parents do by giving conflicting orders to children.

Many thoughtless fathers and mothers bewilder their children and hinder their development in the way complained of.

In the system of laws which govern grown men the first essential is UNITY of law. If laws should conflict no man would be expected to live or to develop properly under them.

The will and the instructions of the parents are the LAWS which govern children.

The child is unfortunate whose parents are whimsical. Still more unfortunate is the child whose father and mother disagree on important points—one saying "you shall do that," another "you shall not do that"—one ordering a certain thing, the other forbidding it.

The idea of education is first of all to develop what is IN the child, bringing out what is good in him, with as little oppression and coercion as possible from without. The child should be controlled mainly by making him feel personally the uncomfortable results of a harmful action.

Above all the child should be made thoroughly to respect laws and rules. There should be no such thing as conflict between parents. A single order from a father contradicted by a mother is enough to destroy all respect for parental authority.

HONEYMOON ENDED IN TERRIBLE MANNER.

Married in Haste, Esther
Crowell Repents at Leisure

JUST suppose—

Suppose YOU married a man you thought the embodiment of all that is good and brave and splendid in a man—only to find out before your honeymoon was over that he was worse than a common thief, a highwayman.

That instead of being a hero of the Argonne, whose tales of bravery and hair-breadth escape had won you, you learned that he never had been near the trenches—and that his strength was used, not to conquer German foes single-handed, but to frighten and rob defenceless women!

That was the tragic fate of Esther Crowell Robinson, pretty daughter of the head of one of the largest publishing houses in America, and herself a prominent member of fashionable New York society, who had been a leading spirit of the Newark division of the Motor Corps of America, all during the war.

A fascinating true story in next Sunday's Sunday Advertiser and American.

What does an offer eat? No body knows! But Professor Thurston C. Nelson, of the University of New Jersey, aims to find out. In his newly established laboratory for the study of them, he has arranged for the system to ring electric bells when they are hungry! An interesting scientific feature, next Sunday.

Two unexpected romances have recently blossomed in the rich and fashionable Drexel family—the branch of that family which is branched in England. It was openly admitted, because of the ambition of Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel—that was to shine and climb in British society. Now Mrs. Anthony, divorced, has herself wedded an obscure English colonel, and her son has married an unknown English girl with no fortune and no social position. Whereupon the ambitious daughter and sister, who is the Vicecountess Malleson, no longer speaks to her mother or brother, and her father, too, is going to use his millions to ostracize the "obscure" members of the family from society!

Mrs. Leonard Thomas, postess of the London Society, has written another volume of amazing verse under the pen name of Michael Stange. Passing strange it is, too—and one of the most delightful things you've read lately is the "poetical study" of this verse by Wex Jones, who is some versifier himself.

More of "Moon of Israel." Thromes are tottering, conspiracy is ripe! Spring Evening Gown, by the famous "Lettie."

N. B. Comical Comics! The best ever.

Next Sunday.

Taking It Easy in Your Flivver

You, Mr. Autocrat, are you going to continue to be known as a speed fiend this summer as well as last, or are you going to get some real pleasure with the aid of your car?

Are you going to bustle your family into your machine early Sunday mornings with the set purpose of making a certain point and return within the day, or are you going to give wife and kids some real sport by allowing them to stop where the fancy strikes them, even if it be far back in the country?

Moderate speed and a chance to see the beauties of the country—wouldn't that be a much more enjoyable treat for all concerned?

How about providing changes of clothing for the children to play on the sandy beach, or to wade in some little brook or to skip about in a wooded spot, or to pick flowers in the fields?

Wouldn't you and your wife have a much better time yourselves under the cool shade of the comforting arms of a benignant tree than licking the dust raised by the speed-crazed drivers you meet on the road?

Instead of that terrific and dangerous speed, try some real recreation.

WONDERFUL FAMILY IN THE CITY'S WHIRLPOOL

By Winifred Black

"Dear Winifred Black:

"You answer so many 'girl questions,' I wonder if you can answer some 'boy questions'! One year ago there were five of us, three boys and two girls. I am the oldest and am twenty-eight. My oldest brother, who was seventeen, and the next son, twenty-two, enlisted in the army a year ago last January and sailed for France in May. One was killed in action, August 22, and the other on October 5. It was up to me to support myself and baby sister, who is fifteen, and youngest brother, seventeen, so I came to New York and took position. I cannot be at home and at work, too, and my 'babies' are dissatisfied. We were raised on the farm and, of course, are a little farmish to be living in New York. Brother goes to high school, but he says that the boys and girls all call him 'Hayseed' and 'Union Top,' and make so much fun of him because he says 'yes-yes-yes' to his teacher that he refuses to go any longer.

"His teacher says he is very bright and attentive, but that he fights so much with the other boys I know he does it because they call him names, but his teacher thinks he shouldn't fight over such trifles.

"If I could only give more of my time to them I might be able to solve the problem myself, but as it is now I can only ask you for advice. Any suggestion you can offer will be greatly appreciated. Respectfully,

"WINIFRED H."

THERE, now, if that isn't a human document from start to finish in every curve of every letter and in every word of every sentence, I'd like to know what let!

No, it isn't her right name, signed at the end of this letter—not so that you need worry about it, though there's nothing I'd like better than to tell the world just exactly who she is, and where she lives and all about her.

She's the kind of girl who ought to wear a crown of pearls upon her forehead—the kind of girl who means more to this country and everything that is good and noble and fine and brave, and modest and true and faithful, than any round dozen of any other kind of woman on earth.

Isn't it too bad about brother? He don't blame him a bit for wanting to run away from school, and I love him for fighting when the city boys call him "Union Top" and "Hayseed."

He Will Win

Yes, I'd try and persuade him to stay in school. I'd tell him that in six months all the little, empty-headed nobodies who are making fun of him because he wasn't brought up in a luxurious home will have something else to laugh at and somebody else to tease.

They'll forget about him and he can go on and learn what there is to learn without paying the least attention to them.

As for that teacher, I don't see where her eyes are or her heart, or her brain. It she's the right kind of a woman, it would take her long to make the boy see that he ought not to let these poor, little, narrow-minded creatures step in between him and his chance.

He's a man, and a good, old-fashioned American—and some day he'll be giving jobs to half of these boys who are trying to terrorize him now.

But if the situation is really getting on his nerve, then, sister, why don't you send him down into the country back to the old place, where he can work on somebody's farm, and go to school, and be among his own kind—for a while, till his sore heart is healed, and he is ready to come back to the cruel, sneering, blind, deaf, ignorant, stupid city again, and show just exactly how his country upbringing has taught him how to conquer!

How about little sister? I hope she isn't unhappy, too.

Change the Scenery

Why don't you make a joke of it, you two, and have a nice, hot supper waiting for big sister when she comes home. Have something pleasant to tell her—she's just a girl, too, and she must be tired of nothing but work and worry.

If she looks the people whose she works appreciate her. Bless her heart, I'd like to give her a good, old-fashioned hug this very minute—but she'll find friends and plenty of them.

In the meantime, here's looking at you, big sister, and little sister, and Union Top—yes, you be proud of that name some day, mark my words!
